PREFACE

The Telecommunications Accessibility Enhancement Act of 1988 (Public Law 100-542) tasks the General Services Administration (GSA) with ensuring that the Federal Telecommunications System be fully accessible to individuals who are deaf, hard of hearing, or have speech disabilities. To accomplish this responsibility, GSA established the Federal Information Relay Service (FIRS) in 1989. In 1998, the FIRS Program was expanded and services were made available under the Federal Relay Service (FRS) to meet evolving requirements for enhanced services and features.

The FRS relays calls between individuals who are deaf, hard of hearing, or have speech disabilities and individuals who speak and hear without difficulty. The FRS is accessible domestically (fifty states as well as Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, and the District of Columbia) and non-domestically (280 countries), world wide. It enables Federal employees to conduct official duties and the general public to conduct business with the Federal Government and its agencies. Many of you are either users of the Federal Relay Service or have employees who are benefiting from using this vital service.

Another requirement of Public Law 100-542 is for GSA to publish and maintain a directory of Federal Government TTY (text telephone) numbers. In addition to the published U.S. Government TTY Directory, information is available on-line via the Automated Federal TTY Directory and through the world wide web. You will find information on the inside cover of this directory under TTY Usage.

Developing the directory and keeping it accurate are difficult tasks. Your assistance in keeping us posted about the accuracy of these listings is very important. If there has been an omission or if a change is necessary, please inform us immediately using the form provided in the directory.

Thank you for your support in helping to ensure accessibility to the Federal Government for all citizens.

Dennis J. Fischer
Commissioner
Federal Technology Service

How to Use the Federal Relay Service

Calling Tips

Please have the telephone number ready that you wish to call. If you want the same gender Communications Assistant (CA), make that request when the operator answers your call. Then give the name of the Federal agency you are calling from and/or to. Voice users should speak clearly and at a moderate speed. Direct your conversation to the party you are calling as if the Communications Assistant were absent.

Incorrect: Hello, Communications Assistant. Please tell Jim the meeting is at two this afternoon. Can he come? GA. (Go Ahead).

Correct: Hello, Jim. The meeting is at two this afternoon. Can you come? GA. (Go Ahead).

The Communications Assistant is required to relay everything that you type or say, and will also relay all background noises. For example, a fire alarm ringing in the background will be relayed.

Confidentiality

All FRS calls are strictly confidential. Records of conversations are not maintained. For statistical information and FRS utilization, the Communications Assistant will ask what Federal agency you are calling from and/or to.

Conference Calls

If you would like to arrange a conference call using FRS, please call 1-800-877-0996 (TTY/Voice) in advance. Request a supervisor who will schedule your conference call to accommodate your needs.

Communications Options

You have nine optional methods for placing your calls:

Hearing Carry-Over (HCO)

Allows speech disabled users with normal hearing to listen to the person they are calling through the relay service.

Voice Carry-Over (VCO)

Allows deaf and/or hard of hearing persons to use their speaking abilities through the relay service.

VCO to VCO

Allows VCO users to communicate with each other. Both parties' voices are used during the conversation. Hearing capabilities are hindered using a standard telephone. The CA types each VCO response during the conversation.

VCO to TTY

Allows VCO callers to speak their message to the CA. The CA types the VCO's message to the TTY receiver. The TTY receiver's typed responses go directly to the VCO caller's TTY machine.

HCO to HCO

Allows HCO users to communicate with each other. Both parties use their hearing abilities during the conversation. Neither party's speaking voice enables them to use a standard telephone. The CA voices each HCO response to the other party.

VCO with Privacy

The CA does not hear the VCO caller speaking through the relay service. The CA types voice responses from the hearing party, back to the VCO caller.

Two Line VCO

Allows a VCO user with two telephone lines to use one line to speak directly to a hearing person, while the other line is used to receive the hearing person's typed responses.

Spanish Relay

Allows Spanish speaking TTY users to type their messages in Spanish to the CA. The CA then relays the message in Spanish to the TTY receiver.

Answering Machine Retrieval (AMR)

TTY users can request the CA to retrieve their messages from an answering machine. They type "AMR", and the CA guides them through the retrieval process to get their messages.

Computer Call Processing
